

The Most Asked Questions About Window Tinting

Q Are city licenses and parking stickers allowed on the windshield?

A Yes, labels, stickers, decalcomania and information signs are allowed, provided they do not interfere with the driver's normal view.

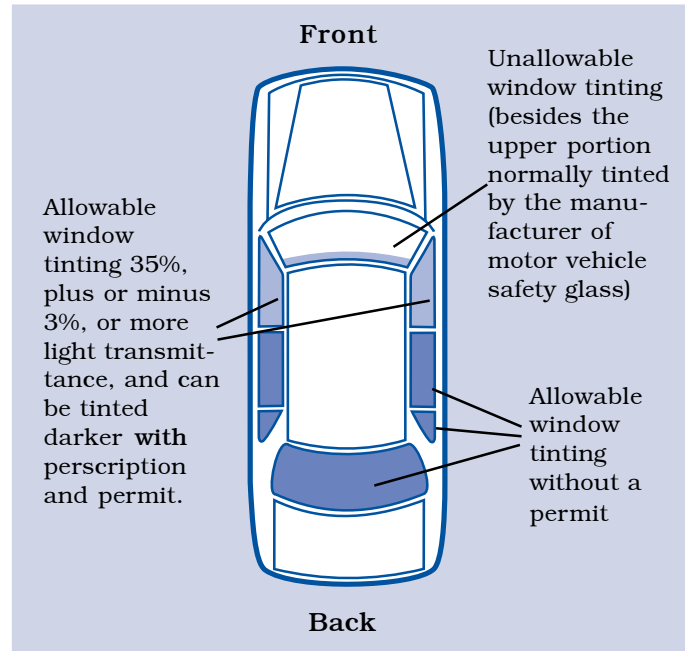

Q Is window tinting allowed on all the windows in a vehicle?

A Vehicles registered in Missouri may have the windows to the immediate right and left of the driver tinted to 35%, plus or minus 3% or more light transmittance. Windows behind the driver and the rear glass are not subject to tint limitations. The windshield is not to be tinted except that portion at the top, which is normally tinted by the vehicle manufacturer.

Q My doctor says I need to avoid the sunshine. Can I add extra tinting to the front side windows?

A Missouri Law allows window tint on the windows to the immediate right and left of the driver of 35%, plus or minus 3%, or more light transmittance. Any tint with less light transmittance on these windows would require a physician's prescription indicating a serious medical condition requiring the darker tinting. A permit is required to operate a vehicle with tinting applied to the windows to the immediate right and left of the driver with less light transmittance than the 35%, plus or minus, 3%. The permit may be issued by the Highway Patrol if the applicant requesting the permit has obtained a written prescription in the name of the vehicle owner from a physician, issued within one year stating the darker tinting is required.

Q Can my spouse drive the vehicle if I get a permit?

A A permit allows operation of the vehicle by members of the immediate family who are a husband, wife, son or daughter who reside in the household.

Q Will my vehicle pass a safety inspection with tinting applied to the front side windows?

A Missouri law does not require safety inspection stations to inspect window tinting for compliance during a safety inspection. Therefore, safety inspection stations no longer consider window tint compliance a part of the safety inspection. Missouri law enforcement officers will strictly enforce the window tint law.

Q If I operate a leased vehicle can I obtain a permit?

A If you meet all the required criteria for obtaining a permit and your vehicle registration certificate includes your name, such as ACME Leasing c/o of John Doe, you may apply for a permit.

Q How do I prove to a police officer that the tinting on my front windows is legal?

A You must carry the window tinting permit in your vehicle at all times. Also, when the permit is issued a sticker will be affixed to the lower left corner of your windshield and a decal will be placed on the rear window or rear bumper.

How to apply for a window tinting permit

- 1 Obtain a prescription from your physician, issued within one year stating the medical condition exists and requires tinting darker than the allowed 35%, plus or minus 3% light transmittance for the windows to the immediate left and right of the driver.
- 2 Bring your vehicle (accompanied with the physician's statement) to your local highway patrol headquarters where they will issue the permit.
- 3 You may receive a permit to keep in your vehicle. A sticker will be affixed to your windshield and a decal will be affixed to your rear glass or bumper.
